PREFACE

Welcome to the FY 2012 UNP Annual Report.

We have documented a generous collection of highlights this year. The University was able to balance its attention to the three major functions on Instruction, Research and Extension.

With the leadership of Dr. Gilbert R. Arce, the “sleeping giant” is awake. The university has accomplished beyond its targets. It is gratifying to see that many programs of the University has passed the quality of program assessment by the Accrediting Agency of Chartered Colleges and Universities in the Philippines (AACUP). The University is one of the top SUCs in the country with the number of programs accredited in 2012. Accreditation has become part of the language of the administration. We believe that accreditation levelling speaks of quality instruction and quality education. The good performance of our graduates in licensure examinations are manifestations of the quality of the delivery services in instruction.

The President said in one his speech, “All of a sudden, everyone in the university became a researcher.” This documents the accomplishments of the university in Research. It is highly recognized that there were research presentations of faculty which were given distinctions and awards here and abroad. These researches were published in refereed journals. These accomplishments qualified UNP for global standards in the international research community specifically the IAMURE.

Along extension services, the University shared its technical and professional resources. The different extension programs created an impact to the local community. These programs are aligned to the social contract of President Benigno “Noy” Aquino to the Filipino people.

Towards the end of 2012, the culture of the people in the university changed. It is a culture parallel to change in government standards, performance based, transparency and accountability, quality standards and excellence. Everyone felt the wisdom of change.

Indeed, year 2012 was a year of blessings.

Brief History

The University of Northern Philippines holds the distinction of being the first state university in Northern Luzon. It was created through the enactment of Republic Act 4449 authored by the late Congressman FLORO S. CRISOLOGO. Approved on 19 June 1965, the Act converted the Ilocos Sur School of Arts and Trades, in the municipality of Vigan, province of Ilocos Sur, into this University.

The governance of this University is vested in a Board of Regents. The first board was constituted on October 14, 1965.

The origin of this University can be traced through the following dates:

- 1906 – Establishment of Vigan High School (now the Ilocos Sur National High School).
- 1910 – The shop department of Vigan High School was converted into a separate intermediate level school which became the Vigan Trade School.
- 1927 – The Vigan Trade School opened its secondary level and had its first graduates in 1931.
- 1931 – The Vigan Trade School became the Ilocos Sur Trade School.
- 1941 – The School was converted into a regional trade school by the late President Manuel L. Quezon through the help of Assemblyman Benito Soliven and Governor Pedro Singson Reyes. The Second World War, however, prevented its implementation.
- 1951 – The Ilocos Sur Trade School was converted into the Northern Luzon School of Arts and Trades through Republic Act 647.
- 1960 – The General Appropriations Act of 1960 (R.A. 2700) converted Northern Luzon School of Arts and Trades back to Ilocos Sur School of Arts and Trades.
- 1965 – Republic Act 4449 authored by the late Congressman Floro Crisologo made the Ilocos Sur School of Arts and Trades, the University of Northern Philippines.
- October 14, 1965 – The first State University of the North started implementing its charter.
- 1989 – Integration of the Candon Community College into the University of Northern Philippines through R.A. 6744, sponsored by Congressman Eric D. Singson.
- 2010 – Separation and conversion of the University of Northern Philippines Candon Campus to North Luzon Philippine State College through R.A. 10085 sponsored by Congressman Eric D. Singson.

Message from the President

ONE HEART, ONE SOUL, ONE FAMILY

This motto guided all of us to arrive at what we are now- a comprehensive university in Northern Luzon that has lived up to the passion of making quality, excellence and relevance integral qualities of our university culture.

And faithful to our commitment to deliver the best educational service to our clientele, considering our present resources, we were able to submit all our academic programs for accreditation by the Accrediting Agency of Chartered Colleges and Universities of the Philippines (AACCUP) with flying colours. We are now ready to submit our programs that are accredited Level III to Level IV. Our graduates during the year in review were able to bring the university to a pedestal of honour because of their commendable performance in the various board examinations. We are undaunted to give our best because we want to bring instruction in the university to its fruitful summertime.

We did so well in research last year that we were lauded by international award giving bodies because of the quality and quantity of our research outputs. We were able to have our UNP Research Journal acknowledged by international research bodies. Accreditors and our other publics have manifested their approval and commendation of our extension services.

Physical facilities upgrading has given the face of the university a countenance that buoys the spirit of every student, personnel and guest. Indeed, to be global is to be clean!

We were able to achieve all this because of the readiness and willingness of every member of the University to become part of these great undertakings. The roadmap to excellence is clear. We are aware that much is still to be done. But we know our direction. We are ushered in to the marvellous path to good governance- here and now.

Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs

This is the University of Northern Philippines today – ONE HEART, ONE SOUL, ONE FAMILY. The charm of this motto has ignited in the heart of every UNP personnel and student the enthusiasm to excel in order to realize a vision. And the vision is UNP as the center of world class excellence in instruction, research, extension and production.

Today, under the leadership of a young university president, the university has achieved much in terms of realizing the vision. In less than two years, all our academic programs were evaluated by the Accrediting Agency of Chartered Colleges and Universities in the Philippines (AACCUP). Submitting these programs for accreditation to the three levels has not been easy but we were able to convince the accreditors that the quality of education that we give to our students speak of quality and excellence. More programs are being prepared for higher accreditation levels but we are certain that we shall again emerge successful.

Today, I join our faculty members, non-teaching personnel, students and administrators in expressing gratitude to the Lord for the success of our graduates in the recent board examinations. Our institutional passing percentages have been above par compared to national passing rates.

Our faculty members too, have regained their momentum of pursuing higher education in their respective areas. This is not mention their readiness to improve their crafts by attending seminars and conferences.

Yes, we have accomplished much in so short a time. This is because we have empowered our faculty, staff and students to walk the path of hard work toward excellence. My gratitude to the President for giving all of us opportunities to grow. My gratitude to the UNP personnel for embracing our mission.

Office of the Vice President for Finance and Administration

The year 2012 saw significant changes in the areas of fiscal and human resource management of the University of Northern Philippines. It was a year when we at the office of the Vice President for Finance and Administration initiated various reforms in efficiently safeguarding and effectively managing the financial as well as human assets of the University.

In accordance with the Ten Governance Initiatives of the present dispensation, we were able to make the mandate of our office produce the best results by adhering with the government's prescribed auditing, accounting and budgeting rules and regulations and enhancing our systems and mechanisms in maximizing the use of our material resources and inspiring the faculty and personnel to cope with the challenges posed by the national leadership.

We made INTEGRITY the hallmark in our fiscal management and MORALITY and ETHICS our guide in making our fellow workers in UNP realize the fact that they are in the University for a noble purpose – to work for quality and excellence in the areas of instruction, research, extension and production.

And together we made it- One heart, one soul, one family!

Office of the Vice President for Research and Extension

It is indeed a great feat for the College of Teacher Education (CTE) of the University for coming out an intellectual Research Journal. This promises an excellent venue for interaction and sharing session among teachers in improving teaching-learning experiences in the classroom. This feat is an aspiration for all academic institutions in the country having a tool for presenting new discoveries and innovations in the quest for quality education.

I hope that this will be sustained so as to provide continuing and invaluable insights on research and practices not only in the university but nationwide. Let this as well be an occasion for nurturing the culture of research in the university, so that our efforts of pushing the University of becoming a “leading university” will indeed be attained. The University Research Center is with you in your persistent goal to make this University a better place to learn.

“Only a life lived in the service to others is worth living.” – Albert Einstein

The calendar year 2012 marked the first year of existence of the Office of the Vice President for Student and External Affairs. The creation of the Office is one of the remarkable changes in the organizational structure of the University of Northern Philippines under the presidency of Dr. Gilbert R. Arce. This reflects the noble intention of the University to be more responsive to the diverse needs of students, to provide better opportunities for their holistic development and to be able to strengthen UNP’s linkages with external partners.

The Office of VPSEA and its three branches, namely: Student Development Programs, Student Welfare Programs and External Affairs, shall continue realizing the following goals and objectives:

- 1) Attaining academic excellence through authentic assessment and guidance, scholarships, relevant trainings, seminars, conferences and competitions, and other activities leading to the educational success of students;
- 2) Exposing students to scholarly works and research activities; and developing their leadership potentials, talents and skills, through participation on local, national and international conferences, training programs, and fora;
- 3) Consultation with students regarding the formulation of policies affecting them, their needs and concerns; and maintaining an objective evaluation and resolution of students’ problems;
- 4) Efficient and effective delivery of services to students and the community; and developing and implementing a feedback mechanism to measure satisfaction of stakeholders;
- 5) Providing honest and transparent transactions in the conduct of programs and projects;
- 6) Modernization of facilities and integrating information technology in the delivery and assessment of student and external services;
- 7) Promoting proper behavior among students to create a litter-free, smoke-free, drug-free, orderly and peaceful university environment conducive to a world-class learning;
- 8) Conducting community service activities emphasizing the spirit of volunteerism, ecumenism, and strengthening linkages or collaboration with internal and external partners including the alumni, other universities and agencies;
- 9) Supporting advocacies on gender and development, human rights, drug and peace education, environmental protection, and other areas; and
- 10) Conducting programs and activities aimed at promoting and preserving the Ilocano culture, and appreciating more deeply other cultures.

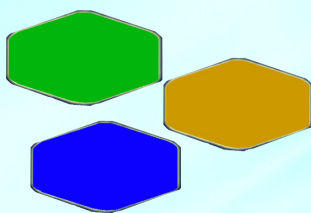

Our accomplishments show that in just a year we have achieved much of our goals and objectives. It is worth mentioning that there were innovations and best practices on Student Affairs and Services. One year of existence has passed and the Office is faced with a great challenge to sustain the best practices and to further improve our programs. This pushes us, OSEA Officials and personnel, to move forward with vigor, commitment, dedication and hard work.

Accreditations

UNP, ONE OF THE AACUP TOP PERFORMERS IN THE YEAR 2012

The University of Northern Philippines under the leadership of Dr. Gilbert R. Arce, believes that there is a glaring need for a standard that is comparable to other countries'. These is the reason why the Accrediting Agency of Chartered Colleges and Universities in the Philippines (AACUP) exists, to ascertain that the programs and practices, and the university culture as a whole, are comparable to global standards of quality and excellence.

The Administration desires to bring the university to greater heights and one way to achieve this is through Accreditation as Accreditation ensures "quality education". Thus, the university worked on the following:

- April 24-27, 2012 - 10 academic programs submitted for Preliminary Survey
- July 17-20, 2012 - 6 academic programs submitted for Level III Accreditation Survey
- 2 academic programs submitted for Level II Accreditation Survey
- November 12-15, 2012 - 11 academic programs submitted for Level I Accreditation Survey

As a result of these endeavour, among SUCs in Region I, only UNP made it to the list of Top Performing SUCs based on the number of programs awarded accreditation status by levels. There are 6 programs qualified for Level III that made the University rank no. 4 among 112 SUCs in the country. The university is rank no. 3 among the Top 8 Performing SUCs with the most number of accredited programs in Level I and above. Furthermore, the university is rank no. 11 among the Top Performing SUCs with the most number of assessed programs including preliminary visits.

As of December 2012, the university is proud to declare that 51 out of the 58 programs are Accredited Level I and above. The following are the programs with their corresponding accredited status:

Smart Alternative to Campus-Based Education

Dean: Crescencio B. Velasco, MBA, MPA

College Secretary: Moderina A. Malcaba, MPA

The Open University have been operating in a borderless environment, providing the avenue for professional growth and development despite of geographical circumstances, job demands and time constraints akin to the traditional campus-based education. These obstacles to professional growth and development were practically being minimized if not totally eliminated. The Open University is striving even more to widen the accessibility to quality education. This has been manifested by the geographical distribution of its enrolees who are now increasingly distributed in the country and even overseas.

To all my colleagues in the Open University and to the ever supportive UNP administration, let us all join hands in keeping the accessibility to quality education open to all!!!

College of Law

OIC Dean: Gilbert R. Arce

College Secretary: Cid Javier

The College of Law has been in existence since for the past eleven years. Through the years, we were able to produce sixteen competent lawyers which include two passers for the 2011 Bar Examinations.

The Legal Education Board conducted an Initial Survey and Evaluation of the Law Program of the University and found that University's College of Law met all the requirements to offer the degree Bachelor of Laws. Although we were accredited by the Legal Education Board, we believe that we can do much to improve the program and teach law in a grand manner.

We were able to accomplish these much because of the cooperation of the UNP Administration, Law Professors, students and other stakeholders.

I am confident that in the coming years, we will be able to earn for ourselves a place of honor in the field of legal education.

GILBERT R. ARCE, Ed.D.
SUC President IV/Officer-in-Charge, Col. of Law

"No man is above the law and no man is below it; nor do we ask any man's permission when we ask him to obey it. Obedience to the law is demanded as a right; not asked as a favor."

College of Architecture

Dean: Fatima Nicetas A. Rabang-Alonzo, MArch

College Secretary: Arch. Raymund P. Queypo

Architecture is a way of life that is constantly evolving according to the needs of our times. That's why schools of architecture must prepare graduates for multi-tasking and multi-thinking to enable them to be ready to work in a contemporary world.

At the UNP College of Architecture, our curriculum complies with the requirements of CHED Policies, Standards and Guidelines for Architecture Education designed to prepare our graduates for specific professions, careers, occupation or trades that they may want to go into by providing them with skills for creative thinking, deeper understanding and problem-solving on their future scope of work like Architectural Design, Housing, Physical Planning, Urban Design, Community Architecture, Facility Planning, Construction Technology, Construction Management, Building Administration and Maintenance, Real Estate Development, Education, Research and Development, and Restoration/Conservation.

Parallel with the preparation of our graduates for their future work is our ultimate aim towards the APEC Architect Project intended to facilitate the mobility of architects in providing architectural services between participating economies around the Pacific Rim by developing a means for mutual recognition of skills and qualifications. APEC Architects must fulfill common elements of the education and training requirements with a proven record of professional experience as registered practitioners for professional recognition in participating economies. Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), of which the Philippines is a member, is an international forum composed of twenty-one member economies with the objective to promote economic and technical cooperation within the Asia-Pacific region.

Given this view, architecture education must move fast and smart so that our graduates will learn how to be a part of this new world.

Dean: Engr. Rey M. Basilio

College Secretary: Engr. Rodolfo Chan

Engineers are creative problem-solvers.

Engineers solve all sorts of problems, and one of their most important tools is their own creativity.

- A damaged heart stretches its walls dangerously thin when the muscle expands, in an effort to increase pumping capacity. Engineers envision a gel-like “sleeve” that can surround it to prevent this expansion. After the heart is healed, the sleeve safely dissolves into the body.
- Cholera is a major health problem in African villages. Engineers devise a water filtration system that not only stops the spread of the disease but is cheap and easy to use, and can be implemented in a culturally sensitive manner.

The modern engineer must be able to synthesize a broad range of disciplinary knowledge while keeping the systemic nature of the problem within her view. As we take on the challenges facing us, it will be engineers and their creativity that design the world we want and turn ideas into reality.

From the Dean

“Nothing's ever built to last but that doesn't mean it's not worth building”

“Eagles flourish when they’re free to fly.”

Dean: Mary Rose Q. Rabang, Ed.D.

College Secretary: Grace Garcia,

On Liberal Education

This is the type of education which does not necessarily fit a man or woman to earn money, but prepares them to do what is ultimately more important and more difficult—to live well, using all their capacities...This distinction oversimplified though it may be, illuminates the difference between liberal and technical education. There are all kinds of skills which can be taught, and which will help men and women who acquire them to make a living; but if these men and women have not also a liberal education, they are little better than clever slaves. The word “liberal” means “fitted for a free man,” one who is not a slave to a machine or to an office or to a single money-making skill.

Gilbert Highet

Education in the College of Arts and Sciences facilitates the integration and liberation of the individual to be able to effect changes in himself and his environment and to realize the fullness of life, thus enhancing his relationship with himself, his fellowmen, and God. It prepares students to become responsible leaders and creative and useful citizens of the nation and the world.

Mathematicians are born, not made.

"The essence of mathematics is not to make simple things complicated, but to make complicated things simple."

- All sciences require mathematics. The knowledge of mathematical things is almost innate in us. This is the easiest of sciences, a fact which is obvious in that no one's brain rejects it; for layman and people who are utterly illiterate know how to count and reckon.

Roger Bacon

The best scientist is open to experience and believes in the idea that anything is possible.

"Science is a way of thinking much more than it is a body of knowledge."

- It has become almost a cliché to remark that nobody boasts of ignorance of literature, but it is socially acceptable to boast ignorance of science and proudly claim incompetence in mathematics.

Richard Dawkins

CAS - Department of Social Sciences and Philosophy

Head: Jean S. Dumbrique, Ed.D.

Life itself is a whole, not divided into majors. Every realm of knowledge must be consulted to discover a full truth.

If a student's reading is confined simply to one subject, however such division of labour may favour the advancement of a particular pursuit...certainly it has a tendency to contract his mind."

Every field gives only a partial view of knowledge of things and of man, and an exclusive or overemphasis on one field of study distorts the understanding of reality.

From the Idea of a University
by John Henry Newman

Most jobs, most endeavours really require more knowledge than that of one field.

The Department of Social Sciences and Philosophy aims to liberate individuals from their own consciousness to enlightenment and to build human capability indispensable to any intellectual profession and suited to a free people and an open economy. It aims to develop well-rounded cultivated individuals with strong sense of values, ethics and civic engagement.

The accompanying wide range and diverse body of knowledge together with the tools of examination and analysis the social sciences and philosophy provide enable students to develop an active engagement with knowledge, and not just be passive recipients of facts. Good judgement, like wisdom, depends upon a thoughtful and extensive acquaintance with general knowledge. General culture of mind is the best aid to professional and scientific study as it supplies a context for all knowledge, it enables individuals to see every facet of truth, hence, it allows seeing things whole.

from the Department Head

"No good things will the Lord withhold from those who do what is right."

Psalm 84: 11

Language is best learned when used in meaningful communication.

"Language is the armoury of the human mind, and at once contains the trophies of its past and the weapons of its future conquests." By saying this, Samuel Taylor Coleridge underscores the significance of language and partly, humanities in human existence.

He likewise spells out the vital role that language and arts teachers play in bridging the gap between the learners' past and present and in preparing them for the challenges of the future. It's a daunting challenge that we, in the department of languages and humanities, need to embrace.

To face the formidable challenge squarely then, our course of action in the department will have to be built around following key general ideas: (i) language should be used as much as possible in the classroom (ii) we should make the importance and use of language clear to the students (iii) we should make the class fun and enjoyable for the students, and (iv) the students should be as involved as possible.

In addition, it is our collective belief in the department that teaching the languages and humanities subjects means teaching skills around critical thinking, research, and the general synthesis of written and oral knowledge in a caring and connected manner-to all students who walk through the door. Because the language and humanities discipline weaves through almost every aspect of life, those who are skilled at understanding, interpreting, and using it in a variety of manners and situations will stand the best chance of success, as defined in the broadest possible way.

It is then our job as teachers in the languages and humanities department to care deeply about our students and give them the chance to succeed not only within the context of language and the arts but in the other disciplines as well.

Finally, we believe that language acquisition in the classroom is best fostered in positive affective conditions, where stress is facilitative, not debilitating, where the atmosphere is nurturing yet challenging and motivating. Happy teaching!

College of Business Administration & Accountancy

Dean: Cristina R. Bundoc, DBA

College Secretary: Corazon B. Urbis, MPA

Business as a science, as an art and as the object of both the intellect and will, is anchored on the philosophical triad: Philosophical Imperatives, Ethics and Social Responsibility.

As a science, business has its body of principles and theories. As an art, business has its policies, strategies and practices. As the object of the intellect and will, the business process leads to an ultimate objective of satisfying human needs which in turn goes further into the objective of enhancing quality of life and quality of society.

Business education provides the foundation of learning about established and accepted principles of business management and strategies; presents the ethical perspective of what business might and ought not to do according to the set of legal and moral standards; and promotes the holistic development of the business students by providing avenues for them to go through the process of professional and personal development by enriching their knowledge, enhancing their skills and reinforcing their values.

Corollary to this, the College of Business Administration and Accountancy of the University of Northern Philippines aims to produce globally competitive professionals in business and allied fields. The students are trained to become competent, dedicated, development oriented, socially responsive and morally upright professionals and community leaders.

from the Dean

"Philosophical imperatives give business a mind, ethics give business a conscience and social responsibility gives business a heart".

Roberto Lazaro, Ph. D.

Criminologists and Social Workers are public servants.

- Criminologists will lead with integrity, accountability and responsibility while serving their fellowmen, community and country.
- Criminologists are generalist especially in the field of crime prevention, law enforcement, scientific crime detection and correctional administration.
- Criminologists are researchers on the nature, causes, treatment or punishment of criminal behaviour and how criminal justice agencies respond to crime, criminals and victims.
- The uninformed in our society associate social work with dole-outs or acts of altruism – the giving of material aid to those in need, out of sense of kindness. Indeed, while social work profession traces its roots to the humanitarian acts of people, it has evolved into a discipline that requires specific competencies in order to be of real help to people, and ultimately to be able to contribute to nation – building.
- The ultimate value of social work rests upon a conviction that it is good and desirable for man to fulfil his potential, to realize himself and to balance this with equal efforts to help others do the same. Endowed with a fundamental philosophy and professional values, the practice of social work is guided by certain basic principles or rules of action for the practitioners. Professional Social Workers are dedicated to service for the welfare and self-fulfilment of human being; to the development and disciplined use of validated knowledge regarding human and societal behaviour; to the development of resources to meet individual, group, national, and international needs and aspirations; and to the achievement of social justice.

- Social Work philosophy rests on the belief that man was created after the image of his creator, imbued with inherent worth and dignity and endowed with the capacity to reason and the freedom to exercise his will. All social work activity is directed toward some change in the human condition, whether in individual, group or community situations.
- Social workers intervene in countless problematic situations people find themselves in today; poverty stricken heads of families; women and children who are victims of sexual abuse and other forms of violence; drug abusers desperately needing rehabilitation; slum dwellers seeking assistance; victims of natural calamities and armed conflict and countless others who need help in order to function well socially

Dean: Milgros R. Remular, Ed.D.

College Secretary: Julie Beth L. Balite, ECE, MIT

CCIT is on its five years of existence. And it is a coincidence that we are now in the information age. Whether we like it or not, we must go with the trend hence we must learn ICT because it can contribute to the universal access to education and the delivery of quality teaching-learning process.

It has been proved that ICT leads to improve student learning and better teaching methods. In research, it is shown that exposure to educational ICT through curriculum integration has a significant and positive input on student achievements.

Through ICT teachers can easily explain complex instructions and ensure comprehension and are able to create interactive classes and make the lessons more enjoyable which would improve student attendance and concentration.

From the Dean

"A great university prepares its students for successful careers and responsible citizenship. With globalization, graduates will be working in fast-changing world in the age of information. It must impart to its students not just technical information that will likely be obsolete by the time they graduate but must develop in them the capacity for critical thinking; for continued learning; for effectively dealing with ambiguity, complexity and uncertainty."

The Indispensable Partners of National Development.

One of the most important yardsticks of the development of a nation is the quality of health of the citizenry. Basic health services must be effectively delivered to individuals, families and communities. Further, the College takes active role in the promotion and maintenance of health, prevention of diseases through strengthened and updated Health Sciences Education.

From the Dean

“In the realm of patient assessment, the doctor begins integrating the essential components of clinical care--- empathic listening; the skill to interview patients of all ages, moods, and backgrounds; the techniques for examining the different systems of the body; and, finally, the process of clinical reasoning. There are too many variables, uncontrollable human variables. How does he learn to cope with all these? It all starts in the four corners of Med school, running through long hallways of hospitals under the supervision of dedicated mentors... doctors who take into priority needs of their students, doctors who try to assess their own teaching while remaining open to suggestions of other pedagogical scholars, doctors who continue to try to develop as teachers.”

Glenda Ogsimer Tagorda, MD
Asst. Dean, Medicine Program

“We pledge our lives to aid the sick, to help and serve all those in need, to build a better nation that is healthy and great.....”

College of Nursing

Dean: Brigida Mercedes F. de Leon, RM, RN, MN

College Secretary: Julieta T. Guinid, RN, MAN

The nurse assumes the caring role in the promotion and restoration of health, prevention of diseases, and alleviation of suffering and, when recovery is not possible, in assisting patients towards a peaceful death. The nurse also collaborates with other members of the health team and other sectors to achieve quality healthcare. Moreover, the nurse works with individuals, families, population groups, communities and society, as a whole, in ensuring active participation in the delivery of holistic healthcare.

Within the context of Philippine society, nursing education with caring as its foundation, subscribes to the following core values which are vital components in the development of a professional nurse and are therefore emphasized in the BSN program.

- Love of God
- Caring as the core of nursing
 - Compassion
 - Competence
 - Confidence
 - Conscience
 - Commitment (commitment to a culture of excellence, discipline, integrity and professionalism)
- Love of People
 - Respect for the dignity of each person regardless of creed, color, gender and political affiliation.
- Love of Country
 - Patriotism (Civic duty, social responsibility and good governance)
 - Preservation and enrichment of the environment and culture.

From the Dean

Nursing is an art: and if it is to be made an art, it requires an exclusive devotion as hard a preparation, as any painter's or sculptor's work; what is having to do with dead canvas or dead marble, compared with having to do with the living body, the temple of God's spirit? It is one of the Fine Arts: I had almost said, the finest of Fine Arts.

"Strong Technology, Strong Organization"

Engr. J. Totaan

The application of knowledge for practical purposes to benefit mankind and the environment is Technology. It encompasses the conception, creation, innovation and production of tools, gadgets, machines, equipment, techniques, procedures, methods, and systems to achieve goals, solve problems and improve existing set ups.

Technology is very vital in the development and progress of an individual, organization or society. It is applicable to all fields of sciences, arts, engineering, education and research and affects all aspects of human activity.

Disregard or neglect of technology and the opportunities attached with it in any of today's system is tantamount to going back to stone-age.

Responsible use and application of technology is always advocated to avoid its ill effects on us and to our environment. I would say that our lives have evolved to what it is today, partly because of technology.

Dean: Agustina R. Tactay, Ed.D.

College Secretary: Ma. Teresa Susan L. Manzano

The year 2011 opened for me new doors to my professional as well as to my personal growth.

The College of Teacher Education, which was entrusted to by the present University Administration to oversee has its own share of undergoing various reform initiatives in the formation of future teachers.

As one academic unit, an daunted to give our students only the best, we were able to sustain the good name of the College. Guided by the inspiration of our leader, we take pride in the success of our graduates in the Licensure Examination for Teachers (LET) and Licensure Examination for Librarians (LEL). We are one family in our mission of delivering quality teacher educator.

I can only say "thank you" to our school administrators for their wholehearted support, to my fellow middle level administrators for their inspirations, my fellow faculty members of the College of Teacher Education for their support and understanding and the students for allowing us to bring the best in them. We look forward to another fruitful year ahead.

For all this, may God be glorified.

From the Dean

Laboratory Schools

Principal: Aurelia T. Vitamog, Ed.D.

Secretary: Mrs. Rainalda T. Rambuyon

Teaching is a great art of service. This occupational career requires a deep sense of responsibility and selfless dedication serving the youth. These youngsters constitute the pre-schoolers, graders and high school students. Considering, the diversity and unique pattern of their personalities, teachers in the said profession are equipped with the essential professional preparations in order to carry out their challenging assigned tasks that have bequeathed upon them in the name of service.

Having their own line of expertise, abilities, skills, and values, teachers can effect physical development, mental growth, emotional stability, moral accountability, behavioural transformation and social satisfactory adjustment in the academic life of the school children. Therefore, teachers are agents of change for the holistic growth and development of the young.

Teaching, in the real sense, is not a lucrative profession. But it is of genuine service and altruism that must be accounted for in helping and serving the children throughout the years to come. Teachers, then, are uncomparable with other professionals in terms of economic benefits. Nonetheless, with their magnanimity, creativity and industry of continuously shaping the lives of the youth, they would always be remembered. Their long barrel of patience and understanding, their constant guidance and supervision, their unending sacrifices and motivation, and above all their being “the loco parentis” of the school – the children’s second home. The legacy of these teachers remains in the hearts of the youngsters throughout the history of humanity.

From the Principal

From the INSTITUTIONAL PLANNING OFFICE

2012 has been a challenging year for the office. A feeling of excitement and anxiety filled our day, weeks and months as we determine the appropriate actions in addressing the different directives like collection of needed data from units concerned as these are needed for submission to the different government agencies, providing accurate information to the different internal and external units for decision-making, and extending service as needed no matter if it is not along the function of the office.

With the new culture of the government “agad-agad”, the office provided information in an accurate and timely manner as indicated by documented due dates and submission dates. In mid-August, the most challenging work came due to the issuance of EO No. 80, “Directing the Adoption of a Performance-Based Incentive System for Government Employees.” There were prescribed indicators on the three core functions of the University, Advance and Higher Education, Research and Extension. Everyone in the University cooperatively worked in accomplishing the performance targets as reflected in the Cascading Forms on RBPMS-PBB where the performance of the University was indicated. It was challenging. It rendered everyone to prove his capability. But everyone showed that with one heart, one soul, one family, one goal which is quality education and excellence, all the challenges turned us into more committed UNPIans. Everyone was inspired to conduct researches, extension services and quality assurance in education. Thus, with concerted efforts, the University conquered all the recommendations of the task force on RBPMS-PBB. The office was more than happy to receive the report on the performance of units concerned and submit the actual performance of the University to the task force.

Aligning the goals, strategies, programs, projects and activities of the University on the RBPMS-PBB indicators as well as to the Public Higher Education Roadmap and the Regional Development Plan, with the meetings and consultations from top executives, middle administrators and all concerned, the office was able to consolidate and come out with the Strategic Development Plan for 2013-2016. With all the patience, understanding, cooperation of all the units, the office would not have been able to achieve all of these.

The office is looking forward for all units in the University to continue working to reflect an assurance of commitment to achieving excellence and quality in education.

“Be able to roll with the changes and glitches, whether they are perceived or real barriers”

Office of the Vice President for Research and Extension

Simple Rules in Life:

If you do not GO after what you want, you'll never have it. If you do not ASK, the answer will always be NO. If you do not step forward, you'll always be in the same place. Anonymous

It is with great honour on my part to serve my Alma Mater as its Vice President for Research and Extension during this period of transition. Being in the university for quite a long time, the experience of working in the research and extension has never been fulfilling. The dawn of the administration under our new President, Dr. Gilbert R. Arce can be gleaned as a new era in the existence of the university in spite of being one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in the country. It has introduced new dimensions towards mustering the culture of research and in total approach in extension services. By understanding the importance of research, a new perspective has been established leading all faculty members the ability to profess. Likewise, extension programs have been massive in its implementation involving all the academic units in its delivery of services to the underprivileged members of the community.

The year 2012 marked our global presence when the University garnered the “Global Diamond Award for Best University Research and Development Program” by the International Association of Multidisciplinary Research (IAMURE) at the Marina Bay Sands Expo and Convention Centre, Singapore. This is in recognition of the substantial transformation and effective leadership of the University into becoming a model of research productivity and relevance for other universities in the Asia Pacific (ASPAC) Region. It is also the same year when two (2) UNP Researchers were bestowed the “Outstanding Global Filipino Researchers” award.

The pages of this annual report feature the details of accomplishments and can be concluded that the past year has been a fruitful year not only for the University Research Center and the University Extension Center but the University of Northern Philippines making it at its best.

Research Services Center

Director: Petronila E. Florendo, Ed.D.

The University Research Center is geared towards the development of the faculty and students as forerunners in meeting great challenges of the present times in the academe, in the community, and in the environment with man and its coexistent organisms as the main focus. The Research Agenda of the University which is aligned with the main agenda of the government agencies addresses educational, social, economic, health, and environmental issues and concerns, and promotes development of new techniques and technology for the betterment of quality of life and sustainable development.

In the last three years (2010-2012), the University of Northern Philippines has produced 134 completed researchers, 141 were presented in national and international conferences, 47 were published in research journals of national and international circulation, and has developed 8 prototype machines. The efforts of the people who doubly worked hard in pursuit of the research agenda were duly recognized as manifested by the various awards and recognition received by them, to wit: 2 Outstanding Filipino Researchers, 1 International Researcher Award, 1 Dr. Agnes Sequino International Video Presentation Award, 1 Silver Award from Asian Journal Competition, 7 Diamond Awards, 13 Platinum Awards, and 7 Gold Awards.

Extension Services Center

Director: Marciana P. De Vera, Ed.D.

Asst. Director: Mr. Sherwin R. Fiestan

Life is becoming more difficult nowadays especially to the marginalized and depressed individuals, families and communities. Thus, the plight of the poor is becoming everybody's concern.

With its battlecry "REACHING OUT AND TOUCHING LIVES FOR BETTER LIVING", the University Extension Center has gone a long way in helping and serving the underprivileged and deprived sectors of society. Along with INSTRUCTION, RESEARCH, and PRODUCTION, EXTENSION has indeed played its role as one of the major functions of the University. It is continuously and unconditionally bringing this higher education institution to the barangay level and, consequently, facilitates the realization of rural development.

For years now, the University Extension Center has successfully addressed the needs and concerns of various communities. With its limited resources, it has selflessly reached out far-flung areas not only in the Province of Ilocos Sur but also in some neighboring areas.

Extension services, programs and activities are implemented using the total approach, hence, the involvement of the different academic units, administrative offices, and organizations is encouraged. These are usually undertaken in collaboration with other institutions and local government units. This effort fosters a more realistic and collaborative implementation of the extension function of the university which boils down to the attainment of national development goals.

With the unwavering support of the UNP administration, we in the University Extension Center vow to commit ourselves in bringing the government closer to the people, continue to explore new horizons and sustain our momentum in serving the underprivileged and marginalized sectors of the population with the University's Motto - "ONE HEART, ONE SOUL, ONE FAMILY."

Manager: Reginald P. Tajon

We are pleased to share our humble doings and what we have done so far in the year that had just passed. Foremost in our efforts was how to efficiently manage and improve the productivity of the parcel of agricultural land and fishponds we acquired. We did this through technology adoption and utilization, project diversification and integration, research, trainings and continuous learning. With these measures, we have so far able to increase our productivity in rice by 30 % in our recent cropping. Hopefully, other commodities will follow the same trend. Being in the academe, it is also our main duty to share these meaningful knowledge and experiences that we have to the community as a means of empowering them and uplifting their standard of living. With the inspiring support the present administration is throwing at us, we are more fervent in committing ourselves in helping the university achieve its aspirations.

Funny but..... Tips to a Good Health.

Medical:

- Eat foods that you hate eating and avoid those you love to eat.
- Avoid or lessen those sweet drinks, but increase your intake of the most tasteless drink of all,..... water.
- Do a lot of what we usually hate , a lot doing.
- Above all, every person carries her/ his own doctor inside.

Dental:

Every tooth in a man's head is more valuable than a diamond.

- Tooth decay was a perennial national problem. Once a tooth is aching it tortures both our physical and mental, so we have to take good care of our teeth. When we have healthy teeth, we have close-up smile and we can bite and grind our food well for a good digestion, thus we have healthy body and mind.
- In order to have good oral health, we need to have a good diet that is rich in Vit. C and Calcium, brushes our teeth at least 3x daily. The dentist takes good care of our oral health. Once there are tartar and stains on the teeth, it needs oral prophylaxis; if there is dental caries, it needs restoration; but if the caries is too large, the only remedy is to be extracted. Natural teeth are better than false teeth.

The Medical - Dental Clinic caters services from 8am – 5pm, Monday to Friday observing no noon break policy. We also have 8am – 12nn services for Graduate School students. We are always available in delivering quality services.

Highlights:

- Annual Medical - Dental check-up for all First Year College and Laboratory Students
- Orientation Program for incoming First Year and Transferee Students
- Supports Medical – Dental Missions
- First aid treatments during sports events
- Daily consultations, treatments, suturing and other minor procedures
- Light cure composite restoration of the teeth
- Oral prophylaxis
- Tooth Extraction
- Provides services and documentations for accreditations.

Infrastructure Planning and Development Office

"May I always be conscious and mindful that on my work depend the lives and properties of my fellow humans"

It is the mandate of any educational institution to provide quality education to its constituents. One of the key factors in attaining quality education is the provision of effective physical facilities like classrooms, libraries and laboratories that could meet the demand of time.

However, the absence of the Capital Outlay in the budget for every higher educational institution like the University of Northern Philippines is one of the constraints in pursuing infrastructure development. This is where a sound design and construction management and effective fiscal management will come in so that the infrastructure development plans of the university president will be carried out.

The Infrastructure Planning & Development Office was created under the Office of the President to design and oversee the proper implementation of the infrastructure projects of the university. Designing a structure is a crucial task it is a collaborative effort of trained professionals and the planner – the university president. It is not only done in a blink of an eye but it needs time to complete a masterpiece. And the success of any infrastructure project does not start and end only in planning, designing and construction but most of all - the end users play an important role in maintaining the edifice built for them.

It is then a call that in order to have a functional and sustainable structure, everybody should be involved in the proper use and maintenance of the physical facilities constructed for the attainment of the vision of the university – to provide quality education.

Center for Gender and Development

Director: Ma. Elena P. Benzon, Ed.D.

Coordinator: Alegria F. Oandasan, Ed.D.

The Center for Gender and Development (CGAD) is a unit which acts as the organizational umbrella for the mainstreaming of gender and development in the plans, programs and activities of the University of Northern Philippines. It serves as the link between government and non-government organizations (NGOs) in the province of Ilocos Sur regarding gender and development concerns.

The University of Northern Philippines is also the host institution of the Pamulinawen Gender Resource Center (PGRC) of Region I. The PGRC is an integral project sponsored by the University Center for Women's Studies (UCWS-UP), the National Commission on the Role of the Filipino Women (now the Philippine Commission on Women) and the Women's Studies Association of the Philippines (WSAP), with funding assistance from the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA). It is envisioned to develop an academe-based pool of gender trainers, researchers and consultants in selected regions of the country.

Realizing the twin goals of gender and development, which are women empowerment and gender equality, entails a convergence of ideas, aspirations, goals and actions from all sectors of the society in general, and all members of the UNP family, in particular. As an academic institution, UNP positions herself in translating the aforementioned goals. With the presence of the two centers (CGAD and PGRC), gender advocates are given more opportunities to equip themselves with the necessary knowledge and preparation as they continue their march towards a gender-fair society.

Armed with a compassion for the marginalized sectors of the community and driven by the vision of attaining a more egalitarian society, the Center renews her commitment and fervor in harnessing the collective energies in working for the gender cause.

National Service Training Program

Director: Larry P. Mendoza, Ed.D.

Asst. Director: Mr. Leonardo B. Aquino

The National Service Training Program has three program components: Civic Welfare Training Service, Literacy Training Service, and Reserve Officer Training Corps. Through these program components, the students were motivated, trained, organized and mobilized in military, literacy and civic welfare in the service of the nation. The NSTP is focused on the development of self (mind, body and heart), the values of Makadiyos, Makatao, Makakalikasan and Makabansa and the development of ethics of service to the community especially the deprived, depressed and underprivileged.

Graduates of the non-ROTC components shall belong to the National Service Reserve Corps (NSRC) that could be tapped by the State for literacy and civic welfare activities. Graduates of the ROTC component shall form part of the AFP Citizen Armed Force, subject to Department of National Defense (DND) requirements.

With unwavering commitment, we at the NSTP unit through the able leadership and indefatigable support of the UNP administration remain and will do our share with selfless dedication in the furtherance of the aims of the NSTP Law.

Library Services

Director: Vicenta R. Pilorin

The Library is the “heart of the institution”, so they say, as such it has to support the institution’s vision, mission, and objectives.

The measure of its excellence is the extent to which its services, resources, and facilities are used to the fullest making it as an instrument of teaching, as a tool for the intellectual development of its users and as an essential contributor to a well-rounded education.

As a subsystem of the institution it has a unique role to perform. It commits itself to give ample support to the institution in terms of increasing its holdings, updating and upgrading its resources, strengthening its linkages with other information agencies and libraries and improving its electronic information services. It maintains its stead as a functional, effective and efficient fortress in instruction and the right avenue for the faculty and students to their intellectual development.

The University Library is always user-friendly, since it operates using the open-shelf system. This manifests that the users are accessible to all the information resources that the library holds. The spacious reading area equipped with air-conditioning unit provides the users the necessary convenience while working with their researches.

Student Development Programs

"Excellence is not merely a one-time achievement. It is practically a habit."

Mariano F. Avila, MAED
Director

There are no hard and fast rules regarding the most effective way to manage student council and formations, organizations, fraternities, publications, social, community and multi-faith services. However, to a great extent, we have to shape in the most appropriate and sublime manner the next generation of our youth who will build on the achievements of those who came ahead. The technologically-driven context in which the youth live in today serves as the situational springboard from which OSA policies and programs, strategies and approaches should be commenced. It is important that creativity and innovation in student development programs should take a paradigm shift. In 2012, we have done great efforts in initiating interactive and student-related activities. We offered wide range of services designed to meet student needs. We do not deny to have engaged in trial and errors. We even jumped from what is conventional and even dabbled with the contemporary language of the youth just so that we could answer controversial questions surrounding them, convey our message and eventually cultivate the student's full potential for personal development, leadership and social responsibility. As student affairs personnel, we therefore claim with profound humility but with modest pride that our happiness and fulfillment comes from the knowledge of having made a difference in the lives of our clientele.

We have gone a long way through student service. With the great labyrinth of both hardships and comforts we've been through, we can say that we are up for tougher ones. But as we take on the challenge, may I express to you my brimming thanks because you were all been there.

Through your unflinching support to the different undertakings of the Student Council, we are able to establish and come up with a multitude of projects and programs that very much contribute to our pursuit for excellence. These, as we are to see, feel and realize, are all a conglomeration of our efforts – efforts to embrace functional and quality learning; efforts toward stronger relationships with one another. Thus, everything we have will prove that we have worked extra hard with the spirit of unity and faith that whatever comes along will be manageable.

However, we will not stop until we reach our destinies. With your continued cooperation, we will make more and do more. Words are really not enough. But with you, through you, and with the thought of everybody joining us together, NO MOUNTAIN WILL BE SO HIGH.

Thank you so much! In the name of student service, we remain.

"We Embody The Voice Of The Students."

"There is great power when great minds and great attitudes meet."

Lowell James speaks well of the immense brainpower, skills, commitment and responsibility of all student formations within the UNP Student Government during the year 2012.

The Student Council (SC) embarked into new frontiers of students' involvement in order to humbly contribute in the realization of the 10-Point Governance Initiatives of the New UNP Administration. The SC Officers spearheaded activities that were diverse yet enlightened with principles of participatory planning, motivational leadership, teamwork, synergy and networking. Truly, their pivotal role of leading thousands of students had not been a stroll in the park. They creatively introduced innovative ways to allow students to express themselves, develop their talents and shout out their needs.

The UNP Administration, under the leadership of Dr. Gilbert R. Arce who was a former UNP SC President and OSA Dean – an epitome of "Man on the Go" – has this commendation: The 2012 Student Government encountered rough goings but it has gone far. Student achievers did not just do good for, in fact, they also did it well. The student leaders did not simply make a difference, because they were the difference. Kudos to the UNP studentry!

Yes, there is much merit in what our student leaders and achievers have accomplished. Although they have done much, we often hear them say "there is more to do." They recognize that good performance is a journey, a learning by doing things.

May they continue to be the forerunners of quality student services and the fountainhead of relevant campus leadership.

PASUC Zonal Center

Director: Ocarina B. Figuerres, Ph.D.

For Year 2012, the PASUC Zonal Evaluation and Computerization Center has significantly performed its tasks as an active partner of SUCs and TEIs for the promotion of equitable professional advancement among faculty leading to the development of a critical mass of professionals that respond to the requirements of quality Philippine higher education. Among other services, the Center reviewed and computerized faculty evaluation with established standards for the promotion of equitable professional advancement resulting to a much improved faculty morale. There were 597 faculty members in the Region who were evaluated for promotion under NBC 461 (Fourth Cycle). This brought about the successful implementation of NBC 461 of NBC 461 in some SUCs & TEIs in the Region.

Having been assigned by PASUC I and Regional Accreditation Committee (RAC) to facilitate the Accreditation of Professors, the Center and the TWG on NBC 461 assisted the RAC PASUC-1 in accrediting 13 candidates for professors entering the rank for the first time. Out of the 13 candidates, 11 passed the professorial accreditation process.

Year 2012 marked a significant achievement of the Zonal Center, being a Premier Zonal Center to have improved the NBC Software developed by TUP. Mr. Peter Rabanal, a faculty member of the CCIT is the main developer of the revised software. He was assisted by expert programmers in other Zonal Centers. The Center has continuously tested the accuracy and reliability of the revised software. This new development has created a feature of the software in the computerization of individual print-outs of faculty member who may wish to determine his/her points for credits in the next evaluation cycle. The Council of Zonal Directors of the country has unanimously agreed the use of the Revised Software.

The Zonal Center staff has been invited as resource speakers to national as well as local training workshops on the guidelines and updates of NBC 461 and other consultancy services; conducted seminars and workshops on the guidelines and updates of NBC 461 in service areas. Likewise, four national meetings of Zonal Directors were conducted with the UNP Zonal Center director as presiding officer. Outputs in these meetings were submitted to PASUC National for approval and deliberation with CHED and DBM.

With our networks yet limited manpower, we can be optimistic that our momentum to serve the SUCs in the area and the entire Zonal Centers in the country will be sustained next year. The next page gives the detail of the year's accomplishment and it can be said that the Year 2012 has been a fruitful year of the UNP- PASUC Zonal Evaluation and Computerization Center.

Panggep

The objective of the Center is to collect books, magazines and other forms of Ilokano literature through purchases and donations; Map Ilokano researches undertaken by faculty members and students in the university; Map students in the University belonging to the great tribal communities of the Provinces of Ilocos Sur

Activities (Gannuat)

- Mapping of Ilokano researches in the university;
- Mapping of students who are members of indigenous tribes for consultation and future activities;

In the study and understanding of culture-universals, a concept of “universal psychic of humanity” exists. However, the postmodern condition of the world necessitates that, while tradition and culture are enduring and indelible footprints of the human race, they should be seen as emerging, ephemeral, negotiable, contestable and fluid.

"If you don't know your own worth and value,
Then do not expect someone else to calculate it for you.
-www.today-quotes.com

One characteristic of a statistician is "should be technically current (software-wise)." In my one year as the coordinator of RSAS, I gained technical skills in using SPSS in data computing and learned to use ITEMAN and Xcalibre softwares.

Looking back, I was faced with a great challenge amidst the controversy that came my way in the transition from being a plain faculty to someone with an administrative function. I would like to thank the UNP executive officials for the trust and support they have given me all this time. Furthermore, thank you so much for the opportunity to grow professionally and to serve other people.

Providing statistical assistance to graduate and undergraduate students particularly those who are conducting their thesis/dissertation, and faculty members in the university who are conducting research has been our primary concern. Aside from this, I was also tasked to sit down in the in-house review of researches in the University Research Center.

To everybody, for your internet researching, SPSS data computing, data management, data interpretation assistance, printing, and bookbinding services, we look forward to serve you.
